Dear Josh:

Dr. Berry of the Instrumentation Group here informs me that you can order the photocells direct from General Electric as Cat. No. 88X565. A description of this particular photocell and its Cat. No. is given in a circular sent out by General Electric in 1941. The list price was given as $10.00.

Your results on the delayed effect of irradiation on mutation is indeed interesting and should answer some of the questions raised by Demerec's results. Our results fail to throw much light on the question since the higher doses of irradiation appear to introduce a complicating factor of increased fragility. Incidentally, our paper should appear in the December issue of the Journal of Bacteriology.

With best regards,

Sincerely,

Ray
